Jessica L. Callaghan, who uses the model pseudonym Cally-Jay, is an Irish-Puerto Rican genderqueer musician and performing artist of Canadian and American citizenship based out of the Toronto area. Callaghan has been involved in music and the performing arts from a very young age. She has been playing piano for twenty one years, dancing on and off for about twenty years, playing violin for sixteen years, and singing and acting for about fifteen years, respectively.

Callaghan graduated from St Clair College's Musical Theatre - Performance program in 2012 as a proficient triple threat, and has primarily done musician based work, including the teaching of piano, voice, and violin, as well as stage work (both performance and non performance).

It was after graduating college that Callaghan started dipping her toes in the modelling scene. After doing some short film work, Callaghan made her way to Vancouver to complete her Bachelor of Performing Arts degree at Capilano University in 2014, where she got to work in multimedia based interdisciplinary performance art, including a chance to perform with her program cohort in the PuSH Festival (an international performance art festival).

Since returning from Vancouver in 2015, Callaghan has been modelling regularly in the Toronto scene while continuing pursuing her passion for performing, whether it be musically, on screen, or for the stage.

When Callaghan isn't focused on her career as a working musician and performer, she likes to spend time with her loving and supportive family, work on her personal fitness, spend time nerding out with her hilarious friends, and you can sometimes find them at your local GTA convention scene cosplaying, or LARP-ing (live action role playing) with the various LARP communities in the GTA.

Lately, Callaghan has been learning how to be a bad ass ninja type by parkouring at The Monkey Vault. She loves butterflies, sloths and is a proud vegan and feminist.

For those just seeing you for the first time. What can you tell us about yourself?

Well, I'm a fireball and a hoot. Professional multi-tasker and motivator. When people ask where I'm from, I typically respond with the question "What year?" because I've spent time all over the world. Born in Okinawa, Japan, I've split my childhood between Ventura, CA and Oki. When my father passed away in 2002, I moved up to Washington and in 2009, then moved to the Carolinas where I now reside. Going to school for my Bachelors in Athletic Training, I aim to help others help themselves not only physically, but mentally and emotionally because there is truth in loving yourself.

What sets you apart from other models?

Honestly, I'm not 100% sure. Other than the tattoos that make is somewhat difficult for photographers to see past, but aside from the fact that I'm a Veteran, I suppose it's the fact that I utilize my platform to benefit my brothers and sisters (as well as others) to overcome their inner demons, and I actually communicate with my supporters. They're not fans, they're not just random people to me, they are on my accounts for a reason. And while that reason may not all be for the same thing, we are on the same page most of the time with things.

Sometimes modeling comes with a lot of baggage. Do you feel that you've been misperceived?

Modeling does come with A TON of baggage. . . once people hear what you do, it's a never-ending plethora of questions like "what do you? what's your website? do you have daddy issues? is your family ok with this?" etc. The list goes on and on. Has it caused issues with my relationships? Yes. It has but we've gotten through it. But, it is what makes me happy and I feel like I can really use it towards a greater good by helping others. I've already inspired so many, so why not continue?

What do you hope to accomplish in the next 5 years?

In the next 5 years I hope to obtain my personal training certification(s), bachelors degree, and have settled in a house that I have bought as well as having competed in multiple figure competitions. but, ultimately I want to have changed the lives of tens of thousands of people. The number isn't really of much importance to me so long as I TRULY am able to help even a single person.

In the perfect world things always go as planned on set, but what's the worst experience you've had so far?

On set mishaps? Honestly there isn't one that I can recall. We typically go-with-the-flow and I've gotten pretty lucky with that.

Have you/or would you ever consider mixing business with pleasure?

Mixing Business with pleasure? In a sense I suppose I do already. . . every destination I travel to I am to book at least 1-2 shoots.

If you were looking for a relationship what type of person would spark your interest?

If I were looking right now, I would say that it has to be somebody with the same charisma, charm, and drive that I have. I'm pretty lucky to have met somebody like that and am happy right now.

What's the most important aspect of a relationship?

C o m m u n i c a t i o n ,
C o m m u n i c a t i o n ,
C o m m u n i c a t i o n .
Really that's all it boils down to. Without this, how do you know what each others' boundaries are? What they honor? What to respect? This is what it comes down to and we are lacking as a society even in the most platonic sense.

What is it about a (man or woman) that sexually stimulates you?

Well, wouldn't we all like to know ;)

What are the three most important things in your life?

Answer- My brothers and sisters in the military, my fitness, and my friends. Without these elements in my life, I wouldn't be where I am.

If you could only choose one person, who is your inspiration and why?

Holy wow. . . only one? I could say so many people and it sound sweet or generic. There isn't just one person who inspires me but my best friend Shannon Boothby is my soul-sister and she pushes me every damn day.

If you could change 3 things about yourself, what would it be?

The things I would change about myself are not simple. I wish I would have more 'everyday' confidence, were able to slow down a little instead of being constantly on the go, and i would change my back because it's gotten my hips misaligned and that's just annoying and painful.

Before we go do you have any last words?

Do what you can to be the light in someones darkness. It really doesn't take much to show somebody that you care, because if they're in need, they won't always tell you but that one small act of kindness could keep them from succumbing to their inner demons and taking their life. Love and Be Loved.
